

Data Analyst

At GateHouse we are looking for a dedicated data analyst who is motivated by converting data insights to business opportunities.

About the job

In this job you will have a great opportunity to act in the intersection of strategy, business development, and finance analysis – all with the same objective: To increase the value of GateHouse.

Your ability to perform sharp and precise analytics will be the basis for development of new business plans, growth strategies, and decision proposals for group management and board of directors.

Your main responsibility will be to perform various analyses, market benchmarking, and build structured presentations.

You will be working closely with Finance, Business Development, and Business Unit Directors – and you will occasionally participate in company presentations with external stakeholders.

Our organizational structure is unbureaucratic and informal with a strong tradition for helping each other to reach our common goals.

About you

You have an educational background as MSc in Economics and Business Administration (Cand.merc.) or similar. Preferably, you have experience from other analytic roles.

You can combine your data knowledge and business acumen to create good and solid business analyses. Furthermore, you are a skilled communicator who can convert complex data analyses to meaningful presentations.

We expect you to be analytically strong and a hardcore number-cruncher – and to have strong competencies in Power BI, Excel, and other advanced database tools.

The preferred candidate is self-driven, well-structured, and robust. You have a natural drive to get things done and have a deep desire to succeed. You must be fluent or native in English.

You will be based at our HQ in Nørresundby.

Application

Should you have questions about the position, please do not hesitate to call CFO Kenney V. Christiansen at +45 7020 1909.

We look forward to receiving your application and CV - here

---

About GateHouse Group:

GateHouse Group is specialized in development and sales of technical software and system integration for advanced systems within tracking, control, and communication. GateHouse is a 100% Danish owned company with more than 60 highly skilled employees. GateHouse is organized in 3 business areas (SatCom, Maritime and Defense).

We provide complex software solutions to global customers, and all our business areas have been strong and solid for more than 25 years – currently we are strengthening our market approach through proactive business development activities and we are looking for new resources to secure our strategic initiatives.

Read more on www.gatehouse.com