

Sales & Business Development

- for big data IT services

At GateHouse Maritime, we are looking for 3 experienced candidates for exciting positions for a forward-bound business with ambitious growth plans.

GateHouse Maritime foresees a great potential for growth. By providing impactful, real-time, and critical data for our clients to help them make better decisions (driven by data), businesses world-wide can avoid disasters, manage vessels better, boost productivity, reduce man-hours wasted on tedious tasks, and also help them improve their business operations leading to better profitability.

All this is possible by using our skills and history to build Data-as-a-Service (DaaS) solutions, backed by our proprietary data foundation at GateHouse Maritime.

Since GateHouse Maritime was founded, we have been experts in capturing and making maritime data available to clients. We have already gathered 273 billion maritime data points, and 150 million new data points are added every day. We have a unique data foundation which will ensure multiple revenue streams going forward.

Our clients are already using our historical, real-time and predictive data to increase their insight and visibility leading to some incredible results (not to mention some long-standing business relationships).

With the help of new talent like you, we'd be excited to have you on board to join our team and help bolster our resources in order to secure our strategic initiatives, help serve clients better, create innovative solutions to change the maritime industry for the better.

Are you looking for an exciting sales opportunity by embarking on a career that can help disrupt an entire niche within the maritime industry? Do you want to enable organizations and businesses to embrace the future with a data-driven approach to business management?

Are you a go-getter and a high-achiever? If yes, we are looking right at you. We'd love to work with you.

Business Development Manager

In order to strengthen our market perspective, we are looking for someone with flair for making market analysis to perform investigating and qualitative efforts in new markets.

This is an opportunity to combine market analysis and business development, so you will need strong analytic competences and commercial understanding to be successful in establishing new business cases. Your insight will be through market analysis, customer interviews, global trends, desk research etc.

Sales Executive (Global B2B market)

Your main responsibility is to secure and develop the commercial success of all products and services by increasing revenue and customer satisfaction. Based on our sales strategy you will be working to develop and optimize customer relationships and increase our footprint in a global market.

You are responsible for execution of the whole sales process – and take ownership for following up on inbound/outbound sales performance – and have a proactive outreach and interaction to B2B customers to identify business opportunities – and to win new business opportunities in order to reach your sales quota.

Partner Sales Manager – OEM

We need you to build a new worldwide partner network. In the beginning it is about identifying potential strong partners/distributors in a number of markets. Later on, the main responsibility will be to grow the business by monitoring and helping our partners to be successful.

It is important that you have tried this journey before – and are comfortable in being able to do it again.

As a Partner Sales Manager, you'll help us build a new worldwide partner network -- starting with identifying potential strong partners or distributors in a number of global markets and securing those relationships. Your primary role will also extend to take on the responsibility to grow the business by monitoring and helping our partners to be successful.

It would help if you've worked in as partner manager before - or allied industry verticals such as shipping, logistics, port logistics, vessel management, and so on.

If you are looking for challenges that can help shape not only your own career but an entire industry vertical as well, we can't wait to see what we can do together.

Your background:

We are looking for candidates with some years' experience in similar roles with a proven track record. It is an advantage to have some software/communication market experience.

We are looking for candidates that is proactive and outgoing and knows how to relate and communicate with customers. You work in a well-structured way and have a deep desire to succeed. You are motivated by creating both revenue and customer satisfaction. You like to work in an international environment with challenging decision makers.

As we are a company with global customers - you must be fluent in English (writing/verbally)

You will be based in our Nørresundby headquarters. You must expect upto 30 travel days yearly.

Application

Should you have questions about the position, please do not hesitate to call CEO Martin Dommerby at +45 7020 1909.

We look forward to receiving your application and CV here
